A DEPLORABLE TRAGEDY.

Aaron P. Bendele Dies of Accidental Gun Shot Wound.

Aaron P. Bendele died at 7:15 o'clock A. M. Wednesday, June 14, 1933, at the Medina Hospital from the effects of a gunshot wound accidentally inflicted about 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

Our information is that a party of young men, including the two Bendele Brothers and some other boys, were hunting, they became separated to some extent and in the dim light of the night young Bendele was mistaken for the quarry and shot with a load of buckshot at a distance of some fifty yards by one of the party. The charge took effect in the head and upper part of the body.

He was rushed to the hospital here by his companions, arriving about one o'clock, where he received every possible surgical attention to no avail. His wounds proved fatal.

The unfortunate young man was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom J. Bendele, who, with another son, Erwin, and two daughters, Madeline and Imogene, survive and mourn their son and brother. He was born December 6, 1914, and was, therefore, just arriving at his young manhood.

His remains were buried in the Hondo Catholic cemetery Thursday morning, following a Requiem High Mass and funeral sermon at the St. John Catholic church by his pastor, Rev. T. A. Flynn, at 10 o'clock. A large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends from all over the county and a number from other points were in attendance at the funeral and there were many gifts of beautiful flowers. The pallbearers were six of his cousins, young men of near his own age.

The stricken family and the young man whose mistake caused the deplorable tragedy have the heartfelt sympathy of all in the terrible sorrow that has overtaken them.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

To every father: What sort of an example are you setting your boy—your neighbor's boy? Believe it, you are setting some sort of an example. If you tie that boy to the Church and to his God you will be doing him a lasting kindness—and helping your community and the nation as well. You will not accomplish that in the best way by sending him, but by taking him to church.

Show your boy that the only safe way of life is to follow the teaching of the Bible. Start now, and keep it up. Let's see the fathers in church next Sunday with the boys and the whole family.

English service next Sunday at 10:30. Sunday school and Bible classes at 9:15.

On June 25 German service at 10:30 A. M.

W. H. LEIBFARTH.

LADIES' BRIDGE CLUB.

The members of the Ladies' Bridge Club and several additional guests composed the personnel of Mrs. O. H. Miller's bridge party last Thursday afternoon. Four tables were arranged in the sunflower decorated living room.

High score prizes were won by Mrs. W. O. Rothe for the Club and by Mrs. Volney Boon for guests. Mrs. Earl Starnes received the cut prize. The hostess served delicious refreshments of sandwiches and iced tea.

Those present were Mesdames Horace Bradley, Ed. Connevey, L. J. Brucks, Fletcher Davis, J. M. Finger, L. E. Heath, F. H. Scheweers, O. B. Taylor, Alice Reinhart, W. O. Rothe, John Starnes, Volney Boon, John Becker, R. J. Noonan, and W. H. Smith and Miss Lillian Brucks and the hostess, Mrs. Miller.

LAYING PLANS FOR RELIEF WORK.

Mr. L. Wright, Conference Leader for District No. 16, Texas Rehabilitation and Relief Commission, who here Wednesday and in the forenoon spoke to a mass meeting of citizens from all over the county on the plans for utilizing Texas' share in the three and a half billion dollar Federal Relief Fund just voted by the Federal Congress, and made a preliminary survey of tentative projects which Medina County might finance from the funds.

Mr. Wright first explained that most of the plans are tentative, subject to changes or elimination entirely, but the primary purpose being to furnish employment to the workless at the earliest possible moment, details are being worked out in advance as far as possible so as to expedite matters to that end.

Secondly, it is expected that Texas will participate in the Reconstruction funds to the amount of some two hundred and fifty million dollars.

And thirdly, in order to determine how and where to spend this vast sum in public works to the best advantage a preliminary survey of possible projects was absolutely necessary, and he urged Medina County to file her claims at once so as to be in on the ground floor.

There were a number of questions asked and the matter clarified to considerable detail, but the newness and the magnitude of the proposition seemed for a while to have stunned the crowd.

Mr. J. T. Lawler suggested that a chain of co-operative grain elevators at L. Coste, Hondo and D'Hanis would serve the double purpose of giving employment in their construction and affording "farm relief" in giving the farmers storage facilities for their grain, one of the first essentials to orderly marketing. He also suggested that Castroville could utilize a more complete water supply system.

Mr. Lilly of Devine suggested that the Devine delegates would have to take the matter under advisement with their home people before anything could be offered as a tentative project from his town.

Judge Noonan said that on account of the present condition of road finances and county taxes Medina County would not avail herself of any funds for road purposes at this time, but suggested that Hondo might find it convenient to finance a sewer system with some of the funds.

After a session of several hours, the mass meeting, which was held at the courthouse and presided over by Judge Noonan, adjourned at noon. In the afternoon, Mr. Wright went into conference with interested parties on the matter of specific projects and recommended in the report of his survey to the Commission at Austin a grain elevator project for Hondo, D'Hanis and LaCoste for $60,000.00; a $40,000.00 improvement project for the Medina County Fair Grounds; a $35,000.00 enlargement for the Hondo Public School plant and equipment; and $25,000.00 for a sewage system for Hondo.

Of course, as Mr. Wright explained, these are tentative projects that may be added to, reduced or rejected altogether as the process of working out the details proceeds, and neither binds the applicants to continue or the Commission to accept but merely puts them up for consideration as possible undertakings.

CARD PARTY SUNDAY.

The ladies of St. John's Parish are entertaining with a card and bunco party next Sunday afternoon, June 18, at 2:30 P. M. The proceeds will be for the benefit of St. John's School.

A beautiful quilt made by the ladies will be given as one of the attendance prizes. Prizes will also be awarded for bridge, High Five, Rook and Bunco.

Refreshments will be served after the games. The ladies extend an invitation to all of their friends to spend a pleasant afternoon with them.

ICE CREAM SALE.

The young People's Department of the Methodist church sponsored an ice cream sale on the college square Wednesday afternoon, during the drawing and the ball game. The money derived from the sale will be used to finish paying the pledge made at the Kerrville Assembly, and which is due in July.

All patronage was highly appreciated.

ADDRESSES LUNCHEON CLUB.

At the Luncheon Club dinner, held at the Chamber of Commerce hall Wednesday, following the re-nast, the Club was addressed by G. Wallace Smith, Manager of the South Texas Department of the San Antonio Public Service Company. Mr. Smith explained that being a public service corporation, his company is guaranteed the privilege of maintaining rates that will earn ten per cent net on the investment; that when earnings pass that figure the rates for service have to be reduced, if not voluntarily by the company then by order of the government; and he exhibited a number of graphs illustrating his points, one of which showed a steady reduction of rates for current since the company took charge of the local plant in 1926. He pointed out wherein the interests of both his company and its patrons in an efficient and economical service are mutual, and said a greater consumption of current in Hondo would mean a relatively lower rate for the consumer and a larger volume of earnings for the company.

Another interesting graph exhibited is one showing the relative trend of living costs, taxes and electric current rates over a period of years. During the time that taxes and living costs have been consistently soaring current costs have been showing a steady decline.

In view of the continued tax on current and the new capital tax recently levied by Congress, Mr. Smith could hold out no encouragement for the hope of any further reduction in rates soon.

The address was a very lucid explanation of the Company's policy and will no doubt mean a better understanding on the part of the Company's local patrons.

Following Mr. Smith's address, Judge R. J. Noonan introduced Mr. L. Wright, Conference Leader for District No. 16 of the Texas Rehabilitation and Relief Commission, who explained the tentative plans for disbursing the state's share in the national relief funds and how counties and communities desiring to participate in the disbursing of the funds should proceed to secure the same.

A round-table discussion disclosed a strong sentiment favorable to Hondo asking for a share in the funds, and the meeting adjourned to the courthouse to consider the matter in open mass meeting and more in detail.

The monthly meetings of the Luncheon Club seem to be arousing renewed interest in the Club's work and the attendance is fair at each meeting. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, July 12th.

TUESDAY BRIDGE CLUB.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Bedell were hosts to the Tuesday Bridge Club and several guests Tuesday evening, entertaining with seven tables of bridge. Roses and pot plants were attractively arranged in decoration.

Club prizes were awarded Mrs. Alfred Scheweers and Mr. Robert K. Hman. Mrs. John Becker and Mr. J. G. Barry received the guest prizes.

Those present were Dr. and Mrs. V. H. Smith, Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Windrow, and Mrs. J. G. Barry, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Scheweers, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Scheweers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kollman, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cureton, Mesdames John Becker, Garland Martin, and Hilda B. Hlen, Miss Irene Scheweers, Messrs. Jack Bradley, Preston Gaines, Stucky, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Bedell.

THE BRIDGETTES.

Monday evening the Bridgettes were delightfully entertained by Miss Doris Windrow.

At the conclusion of the games, Miss Virginia Ulbrich held high score among the members and received a manicure set. Miss Lela Grace Reilly received a vanity for high guest prize and Miss Bernice Chancy won the consolation prize, which was a set of crystal jewelry.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to Mesdames Bernice Chancy, Roseina Taylor, Mary Ruth Wilson, Virginia Ulbrich, Evelyn Barnes, Milton Marie Merritt, Lela Grace Reilly, Frances Haegelin, Annette R. the, Bernice Speece, Genevieve Brucks, and Margaret Bradford of San Antonio.

Horace Scheweers of San Antonio spent Sunday visiting friends here.

DISTRICT 4-H LIVE STOCK SHOW.

A District 4-H Live Stock Show to be held in San Antonio, Texas, the last of March, will include about nine counties around San Antonio.

I have quite a number of members enrolled, and have their calves on crop feeders at present. Mason and several of the Hill counties are putting on feed now. I would like to have any boy or girl who wants to feed out one or more calves to let me know so I may call and pick out your calf, as it will take the best calves to make a showing in this district show.

Let's get going and get our calves on just as soon as possible so we can show just as good as any county that enters this contest.

The Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation in San Angelo will loan any 4-H club boy or Vocational student who is recommended by the County Agent, the full amount of money for the purchase of a calf, or lambs, to fatten for the Stock Show; the loans to be paid when the animals are sold. The loan will be made for the purchase price only, food must be furnished by the member.

AFTER THE RAIN.

Forgotten now are our depression pains,
Since the clouds have watered the parched plains;
Now the more cheerful way we choose
While scorning to chant the blues—
When it rains King Drouth no longer reigns!

Too much pride is poverty of character!

You usually pay in full measure soon or late for being short.

When one gives way to temper he usually throws away his self-respect!

If, Lord, for aught I most should pray,
Grant that my work shall be my play!

Occasional reference to "the late depression" has one wondering whether it's a case of the bore who "came too early and is staying too late" or just a frightened boy "whistling in the dark!"

"Anything you may plant from now on until August 15th will make and we have plenty of time to make a crop. *** This is not the time to give up but make a special effort to get your land in shape and do not forget the Pinto Bean crop in August. Pinto Beans we raise in the fall we can take care of them and handle them from time to time as the market justifies. In fact, we can carry them eight or ten months without a weevil." You will observe we quote the above. We have always known that some of the best "news" in any newspaper is in the advertisements, but the above is philosophy and sane and timely counsel all combined, and we took it literally from an Adams Company advertisement in the current issue of the Devine News. It is from the pen of the Company's Manager, M. A. Keller, and is worthy of all acceptance. Mr. Keller adds: "We are today in the market for every pound of Pinto Beans that can be had as well as black-eye peas." Besides offering these possibilities as cash crops, Mr. Keller could have added that after bread and meat the bean family is doubtless the next most substantial and widely used staple of diet—in fact, it almost combines within itself the food elements of both bread and meat. The family that is supplied with enough beans need never be hungry. And for the sake of variety, let us try the Jackson Wonder lima bean and the Tepary bean, especially where soil moisture is likely to be at a premium.

Mention was made last week in this column of the publicity being given the Carrizo Springs Trades Day. The Javelin, in its issue following the event, comments: "Merchants were so well gratified with the first Trades Day Friday and Saturday that plans are under way for another early in July. While the volume of business was not so great as has been in times past, considering conditions, the event was gratifying. Interviews with several of the business men this week brought out such expressions: 'Towns that go after things usually get them. It may take repeated efforts, some projects may fail, but, with the town, as with the individual, continuous, persistent, intelligent and concerted efforts bound to produce results.' 'The element of personal contact with the people of our territory is an important factor in the upbuilding of town and county. The invitation extended by Carrizo Springs to the people to visit here once a month when merchants offer trade inducements, when some entertainment is offered, will become a project of increasing and accumulative good.' 'What a town is, or is going to be, depends upon the people in it. Geographic position may help, natural resources may help, but the main thing is the spirit of hospitality, friendliness and accommodation of the people to their neighbors.' "

Frio County is preparing to offer an issue of $15,376.31 of General Funding Bonds, to run from one to ten years and bear six per cent interest. "For the purpose of funding, cancelling and in lieu of evidences of certain outstanding indebtedness of Frio County". This indebtedness is not for a permanent investment but to take care of money spent for current county expenses over and above income. Whether this failure of old Frio to make income and outgo balance is due to failure of the taxpayers to pay or to too lavish spending by those disbursing county funds is partly both, it is a clear case of reversing the natural order of making the present take care of itself and making the future take care of the (Continued on last page).

Defendants have occupied and used

said premises under such unlawful

by virtue of such wrongs, defendants

are justly indebted to plaintiff; but tiff's damage in the sum of Five

Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars.

Plaintiff further shows to the Court that he has had and held peace-

able, continuous and adverse possession under title and or color of title

EMIL BRITSCH,

Clerk of District Court in and for Medina County, Texas.

Came to hand June 14th A. D.

1933, at 2 o'clock P. M., and publication of the above Citation ordered

made in the Hondo Anvil Herald.

CHAS. J. SCHUEHLE,

Sheriff of Medina County, Texas.

I was looking over my peach orchard yesterday and got to wishing I had set about half of it in Harrison

figs. This fig is making a reputation in this part of the country. The plants get killed down by freezes but quickly spring up again and bear figs.

They are not hurt by hails and the cold. A few years ago we lost nearly all the fruit we had by hail except the Harrison figs.

Cars Being Built at World's Fair

Millions of people will have their first opportunity to see an automobile being built, when they visit this mammoth room where the Chevrolet Motor Company will assemble "Master Six" coaches and coupes in the special General Motors Building at "A Century of Progress" exposition. On the left, Fisher bodies are being fabricated on a "J" shaped line and on the right, Chevrolets are being assembled from the bare frame to the completed car, ready to be driven out of the building under their own power. Note, in the center of the photograph, the body being swung from the end of the Fisher line over to its place on a Chevrolet chassis. Visitors may purchase cars built here and drive them home.

YOUR VACATION.
Make it worth big money. Every day is an opportunity to accomplish something toward future success. A wasted hour is an opportunity cast aside. The habit of leaving, of "fooling away" your time without accomplishing anything worth while spells
"little fellow".
High School students and teachers,
what are you going to do with your vacation? Do something to increase your usefulness, your earning power,
to get more success and pleasure out
of life.
You can complete a course with us
and step right into good positions in the fall business. A business education is the only way to insure a good salary twelve months of the year.
Two months salary after completion
with us usually pays all expenses of a course. We secure positions for graduates.
The merit of our courses is proven
by the fact that we are now graduating more students than any other school in the Southwest. 50,000
Byrne trained students will tell you
of the value of a summer spent in Byrne College. It pays dividends for the balance of your lifetime.

sive thorough courses, and what former students and business men
think of them, fill in coupon and send

FROM SINTON NEWS.
Mrs. Virginia Benson, with her nieces, Misses Ouida and Mary Dodson, drove to El Campo Sunday, where they met the young ladies' mother and sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Dodson and Misses Jo Nell and Londra Dodson, of Houston, who returned with them to spend several weeks at the country home of Mrs.
Benson, near Sinton.
Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Miller, formerly of Sinton, who have been making their home in Beeville the past year,
have returned to Sinton and are located in what is known as the Wyatt property on Market street. Mr. Miller is connected with the Gerdes Gin Company.
Small home orchards averaging almost one acre in size have been set out as demonstrations in Red River county in cooperation with C. M.
Knight, county agent. The order for trees was pooled to effect a saving in price, and the nursery stock carefully inspected for disease. Most orchards consist of 31 peach trees of four varieties, 10 apples of three varieties,
six plum of two varieties, and three pear trees. The demonstration orchards will be properly cultivated,
pruned and sprayed and records kept
to show what farmers may expect
from a small orchard, says Mr.
Knight.

This last season there have been more grapes set than ever before.
There may be two reasons for this.
One is that people expect to make their own wine; another is that the grape
so far is one of our very surest fruits.
People are going to have fruit and if they cannot get peaches they will take grapes. There is nothing that appeals to a man going along the highway on a hot day like baskets of nice cooling grapes. Such men as Fernando Miller, who have vision enough to see the possibilities of grapes, will set immense vineyards.
There is more science in growing grapes than in growing any other fruit and more books written on grape growing. A thing that there is so much to be learned about is always interesting. Grapes have come with men down through the ages.
They have been his food when he was hungry and when he felt blue their juice has helped him to get over that bluish feeling. The humblest cottage can have its grapevine and grow as fine grapes as the man who lives in a mansion. After all, men are about on an equality. We can all have the finest fruit.

Thousands Reporting Sargon
Soft Mass Pills Have Brought Them Lasting Relief From Constipation—Sour Stomach
—Sick Headaches—Gas—
Bad Breath—Coated Tongue
—Nervousness and Dizzy
Spells After Everything Else
Had Failed.
If Your Liver Is Not Performing Its Proper Functions—Sickness—Suffering and Ill Health Are the Inevitable Result.
Science Has Proved That Salts,
Calomel, Mineral Waters,
Oils, Laxative Pills, Herb
Teas or Extracts Have No Effect Whatever on the Liver
or Its Production of Bile.
Unless you have tried Sargon Soft Mass Pills you can have no idea of the effects produced by this natural cleansing of your liver and bowels.
It makes you feel years younger, stronger, healthier and happier. It brings back life and color to faded eyes and checks, restores the appetite and sound digestion—gives you a new outlook on life itself.
Bile is nature's laxative and your stomach and bowels require at least one quart of fresh bile every day to keep them clean, pure, free from fermentation, gas and disease germs.
When your liver becomes sluggish
the bile stagnates and stops flowing freely. The contents of your bowels become the breeding place for germs
and poisons; your food does not digest
—it just ferments and decays in the bowels. The blood absorbs these poisons and you suffer from constipation, gas, sick headaches, biliousness,
nervousness and sour stomach.
Sargon Soft Mass Pills remove the cause of this condition in nature's way. They are not like any other medicine you have ever taken. They are so gentle, thorough and natural in their action there is nothing about them to remind you that you have ever taken a medicine, and most remarkable of all you gradually reduce the dose until you no longer require a laxative of any kind.
Insist on genuine Sargon Soft Mass pills. Don't be misled. There are only two generally recognized substances
which will actually stimulate a purify or sloughish liver to cleanse and purify itself by increasing its production of bile. Sargon Soft Mass Pills contain both of these substances and no other advised medicine on the American market today does contain them.
Only one for a full 30-day treatment. At your druggist, or write G. P. Willis, Inc.,

CHAPTER ELECTS OFFICERS.

At the annual election of officers of Chapter No. 350, R. A. M., held at the lodge room Tuesday night, officers were elected for the ensuing Masonic year as follows:

O. A. Fly, High Priest.
H. S. Bulgerin, Excellent King.
T. C. Barnes, Excellent Scribe.
Horace Bradley, Treasurer.
H. E. Haass, Secretary.

These officers, together with those to be appointed by the High Priest, will be installed on Saturday night, June 24th at a meeting called to convene immediately following the close of the Blue Lodge.

D. W. Short was down from his ranch yesterday and says grass and water conditions on the ranch are fine and he has just bought himself a new pair of breeches, hoping the "demand" will keep boosting the price of wool! Mr. Short informed us also that Commissioner Buss and the Relief Committee with R. F. C. Funds are doing some splendid work improving the Hondo-Bandera road. A 325-foot long and 16 feet wide concrete slab is being laid at the Ben De Grodt crossing on the Verde and two other bad crossings above there will also be so improved. If the gates can be removed Hondo will have a high class open road to Bandera that would no doubt attract some of the San Antonio-Bandera tourist travel, that now doubles back or loops around by Kerrville, to loop around by Hondo and back to San Antonio on the highway.

Hon. Joe Caldwell, Attorney for the Texas Live Stock Sanitary Commission, was a brief visitor to Hondo Wednesday on official business. Mr. Caldwell was a candidate for Representative from the 77th District of Texas in the Democratic primary last summer and lost by a very narrow margin.

Elder D. H. Land and wife and three little children were brief visitors to Rev. and Mrs. J. T. Horger Wednesday morning. Elder Land is pastor of the Nazarene Church at Hillsboro and was returning home from a visit to his wife's people at Leakey in Real County.

LOW PRICE CARS VS. CHEAP CARS

We do not build a low-price car: the cost to us of building our car is pretty high.

But we do sell a high quality car at a low price.

Almost every new Ford V-8 car we have built so far this year, has cost more to manufacture than its selling price was. As you buy them at only $490 to $610, we have to depend on increasing volume to make up the difference.

The reason for this is simple: — a manufacturer who gives good value must expect to lose money on the first cars he sells because he cannot charge all his costs to the people who are first to buy.

But with the purchaser it is different — he cannot afford to lose anything on a car. It must give him full value from the first, and keep on giving him full value for years.

Two things make possible our combination of low prices and high cost quality:

1. Volume Production
2. Taking only one profit

First, we set our price at what would be fair to the public on the basis of economies we enjoy in volume production. Then, in order to justify and maintain our low price we must get volume sales.

Thus it comes that a car which is really high-cost to make, is also low-cost to buy.

There is a difference between a cheap car and a low-priced high quality car.

Ford prices are always fixed at a point which makes it profitable for a customer to buy.

Good and lasting business must produce profit to the buyer as well as to the seller. And of the two, the buyer's profit must be, comparatively, the larger one.

It pays us to sell the Ford V-8 because it pays you to buy it.

HISTORY OF THE NEW FOUNTAIN METHODIST CHURCH, SOUTH.

The following interesting historical sketch was prepared by Prof. A. B. Brucks and was read by Miss Lucilla Wiemers at the Diamond Jubilee Celebration held recently at the New Fountain Methodist Church.

The vicinity of New Fountain was settled by colonists from Germany and Alsace Lorraine, brought over by Henry Castro, working under authority of the State of Texas. The first settlement on the Quibi Creek was founded in 1846, later Soldiers' Camp, Vandenberg, and New Fountain. The people spoke various German dialects and were Lutherans by faith excepting a few Catholics. Hostile Indians surrounded them and an Indian attack soon followed after settlement in which a few whites were killed and one or two children captured. This common enemy united the colonists in a determined effort to establish their homes and defend them at all hazards. A common cause broke down a part of the denominational prejudice and sectional antipathy causing the colonists to respect a man's character more than his creed and his true worth more than his position. In some instances it also tended towards religious and moral laxity. The Catholic priests occasionally visited the settlers, baptizing children and reading services at the homes of one or the other. The Lutherans organized and formed a community, and later built a small church at Quibi, at the present site.

Rev. John Wesley DeVilbiss was teaching and preaching in San Antonio about the year 1854, and being a missionary at heart, made trips into surrounding territory to discover the needs of the people. He learned of the people near New Fountain, and through his influence missionaries were sent into Medina County to open a way for Methodism.

Rev. J. Steiner was one of the first missionaries. He found a welcome at Vandenberg where he commenced preaching the first Methodist sermon in that vicinity. His humility, sincerity, and love for mankind won for him the hearts of the people, and his sound reasoning coupled with his impassioned appeals for righteousness, during the delivery of his sermons, brought his hearers to a realization of their lost and helpless condition. Thus, a few converts were gained, and during 1859, the Methodist Church of New Fountain was organized by Rev. J. A. Schaper. The regular services were held in private homes and as the membership increased, gradually moved towards Soldier's Camp, so called because the soldiers that protected the early settlers had a camp there for a while. Special meetings were held in a convenient grove or under a brush arbor. The old records are not very complete, some of them being lost, but on Dec. 29, 1861, Brother Ferd Mumme was recommended as exhorter. He afterwards became a minister of the gospel, probably the first one from this church.

During the Civil War this church with all the others, suffered terribly. Men were drafted into the army, others fled to Mexico to escape conscription, and the whole people were nearly impoverished. The quarterly collections for the upkeep of the ministry often amounted to less than five dollars. In this emergency the board of stewards acquired a stock of cattle, branded with their own brand, and by receiving donations of calves, heifers and cows from the members, the proceeds of sale went to the support of the ministry. As a rule the members gave cheerfully of their products, eggs, butter, corn, etc., and the preachers always had enough to eat.

Another result of the war was the reign of lawlessness; cattle stealing, especially, became so prevalent that unrest prevailed all over the country. This church, by its ministers and laymen, took a bold stand against all forms of lawlessness and crime, and the influence was felt throughout the whole country. Even the lawyers would eliminate Methodists from the jury if they had a bad case. One man, being confronted by armed men, trying to intimidate him, said "You may kill me, but you cannot keep me from telling what I know."

The spiritual condition reacted favorably on members of other denominations, and the neighboring churches were built up spiritually. Brother Jacob Kern often said that the elevating effects of the gospel on the "East Friesians" of New Fountain could never be overestimated.

The building first used as a church and schoolhouse by this congregation was a small picket house, plastered with yellow clay mixed with straw, and white washed. It was situated near where the Muennink's Gin now stands, about half way between the Verde Creek and the present building. On the far gable a large room was added, which served as the parsonage. This room served as a kitchen, bedroom, dining room, and study, but it lacked the beauty and conveniences of modern parsonages which lack was made up by the beauty of character and greatness of soul of its occupants. The ministers were generally self-educated, trained in the school of experience, grounded in religious conviction and faith, and full of sympathy with the lost and erring. "More intent on raising others than themselves". They were fearless in denouncing crime and exposing sinfulness, and as a result the congregation increased steadily in membership.

In 1872 the present church was erected, except the spire, which was added several years later. It was a difficult undertaking, because money was very hard to raise, even in those days. But the men burned the lime, quarried the rock, and hauled the materials to the building site. The boys mixed the mortar and most of lumber was cut and sawed on the Medina River and hauled by oxen. The women and girls stayed at home praying for the safety of the men and the successful outcome of the enterprise, and when, after the work, the men returned, they greeted them with their sweet smiles, and invited them to a warm supper. Thus everybody cooperating, the structure was finally completed. In 1900 and 1901, extensive repairs were made on the church, and the building enlarged so as to give room for the choir, and ever since then, male and female voices have gladdened the hearts of many by song, declamation, and oration.

The reports by the pastors to the quarterly conferences indicate that the missionary spirit was very active. There were always two or more preaching points or trysting places, and sometimes as many as five Sunday Schools were conducted in different places, including D'Hanis and Castroville. The good accomplished cannot be estimated, but as to results in numbers converted to Methodism, from the two places mentioned above, there were none. The other places, however, bore good fruit.

At Tehuacana, where some families from New Fountain had moved, preaching services were held about once a month by the pastor of New Fountain as early as 1891, and afterwards increased to two services each month, one by the local preacher. In this connection we want to remember the service of our sainted Brother F. Broars, who made regular trips to Tehuacana for years, and in his simple, cordial way expounded the gospel and appealed to his hearers to strive for the more abundant life offered by Jesus. Freely had he received, and freely did he give. The Sunday School at Tehuacana was organized about the year 1894 or 1895. From about this time forward, by the help of exhorters and local preachers, services were conducted regularly every Sunday at both Tehuacana and New Fountain. During the conference year of 1903-1904 Tehuacana, now Yancey, was organized into a separate charge and continued so for a number of years, when it was finally consolidated with the Lower Tehuacana church.

About fifty years after organization, on the 7, 8, and 9 of August, 1908, by the able guidance and tireless efforts of Brother F. W. Raderisky, sustained by his members, the Golden Jubilee was celebrated in connection with a revival. The weather was good, the attendance large, the sermons powerful, and the reminiscences of the one time pastors, like Brother Schaper and others, rekindled in many a heart the old time devotion and "first love", and the good sown then and there is still bearing fruit. Brother Schaper said that New Fountain used to be the "recruit's corner". If a new "recruit" stood the test here, he could be sent to any charge in the German Conference without fear of making a failure.

However, New Fountain has in no small way been a recruiting station. The following ministers of the gospel perceived all or most of their inspiration here: Ferd Mumme, John Bohm-falk, Christoph Wiemers, W. D. Wiem-mers, E. A. Konken, Schweer Bohm-falk, Fred J. Brucks, Friede Bohm-falk, Daniel Hardt, Louis Hardt, and Gus Muennink were inspired for life service while members of this congregation.

Looking back now after seventy-five years of organized existence, we can hardly realize the difficulties, trials and problems the first members had to face, but they overcame them. We should emulate their example of rugged honesty, sturdy faith, and sincere piety, and not overlook the newer problems that now confront the younger generation. The Ebenezer Church still stands, its younger members just as eager for salvation as were the older ones, their temptations just as severe though of a different character, and themselves just as determined to overcome them. While other good organizations have grown, flourished and decayed, the church still stands as young and virile as ever. "Verily it is founded upon the rock, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us." And while our hearts are filled with joy and gratitude to God for His help and guidance, let us take new courage and hope, and struggle onward and upward in Faith and in Love, and firmly resolve, one and everyone, that the light given this church shall never grow dim, but shall in the future, as in the past, light up the way to deliverance for the fallen and the weak, the erring and the sinner, the Jew and the Gentile. Amen.

QUIHI NOTES.

Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted. Matth. 5:4. God is God, and man is man. Each one holds his own sphere. Many things of that sphere yonder, we do not know. Many thoughts and ideas and laws from there seem to clash with ours here below. Those are fundamental and firm, ours need adjustment, correction. Mourning, whatever the reasons for it, generates little blessedness for sad hearts, rather sorrow and distress. The Lord, however, is right. He speaks not of mourning for fatal consequences of sin and folly—little comfort there—but of mourning for our shortcomings, despite all efforts to be better and do better, to love Him deeper and more sincerely—in our fellow-men. Here applies the promise: the comfort of His mercy. And that's bliss.

A gravely infected eye put Mr. Hy. Sathoff in the hospital. A rest-cure is, likewise, imperative for some time. It's taking patience of a man of his energy, indeed, but sometimes we must serve the Lord on our back. A speedy recovery to you!

A very timely rain has shattered our hopes of bringing the fine program of the Luther League last Sunday evening. But the rain was more important, and we gladly submitted. The program will be presented next Sunday evening, June 18th. Members, please take notice.

The Sunday School had a few changes: Miss Lucille Eohlen took over the class of Mrs. M. Wiemers some time ago; Miss Alma Grell is teaching in place of Mrs. Milton Oeffinger, and Hertha Weeber assumed part of the pianist work in this department. Heartly thanks to the former teachers and a sincere God-speed to the new incumbents.

Announcements for Sunday, June 18th: Service in German at Quibi 10 A. M. Sunday School and Bible Class at 9 A. M. Luther League program at 8 P. M. The word of grace and truth is proclaimed for you. Come.

TEXAS LUTHERAN COLLEGE CHOIR FAVORABLY RECEIVED. ANNUAL SPRING TOUR GREAT SUCCESS.

The following few enthusiastic comments indicate the favorable reception the Texas Lutheran College Choir was accorded throughout Central and North Texas.

"The concert was one of unusual beauty. Seldom is an unaccompanied choir heard here and last night's opportunity was evidently enjoyed by the music lovers who attended. The simplicity of the music was beautiful and the singing of these sacred tunes was both reverent and earnest. The director of the choir should be commended for his success in developing such a completely harmonious choir."—Fort Worth Star Telegram.

"Probably no musical organization in years has been more enthusiastically received by a Baylor audience than was the choir from Texas Lutheran College at Seguin when it gave a special performance in chapel Tuesday."—The Daily Lariat, Baylor University's Newspaper.

"Upholding their reputation as the 'St. Olaf's Choir of the South' the Choir of Texas Lutheran College thrilled an audience of more than 500 in and around the Lutheran Parish House Sunday night with their beautiful and inspiring interpretations of chorale music. Under the direction of Professor H. E. Gibson, the choir put forth its best efforts and reaped for themselves and their director many words of praise."—Taylor Daily Press.

"Conductor H. E. Gibson directed the choir as if he were playing a huge organ. Each member of the choir was at absolute attention and followed the direction of the conductor as if he were striking the various keys of the organ. The voices swelled from the softest pianissimo to the loudest fortissimo. It is a pleasure to listen to such music."—The Radio Post, Fredericksburg, Texas.

"The high school auditorium was filled Sunday night to greet the Lutheran College Choir of Seguin that appeared in sacred concert here, rendering a splendid program that proved a genuine musical treat to the large audience."—Gonzales Inquirer, Gonzales, Texas.

Joseph Chapek, eminent Chicago music critic, writes in the Music News, national Music Journal, "In attending a concert by the choir of Lutheran College, Seguin, Texas, I was agreeably surprised to hear such fine singing. There was such pure harmony the different parts standing out pure and clean, and the shading, with wonderful crescendos and diminuendos, was remarkable."—Music News.

A selected group of the best voices from this choir will appear in a sacred concert at Hondo High School the night of June 29, 1933, at 8 o'clock P. M. No admission will be charged but an offering will be lifted.

DIAMONDS FOR LOVE IS MAE WEST'S MOTTO AS "LADY LOU" IN FILM.

Mae West, noted Broadway actress and writer, who made her film debut in a character role in "Night After Night", is starred in her second movie, "She Done Him Wrong", which she herself wrote, and which comes to the Colonial Theatre this Friday and Saturday nights. Cary Grant, Noah Beery, Gilbert Roland, David Landau and Owen Moore head the large cast which supports her. As spectacular as she is herself is the character enacted by Miss West in the picture—a singer in a Bowery saloon who exchanges her favors for diamonds, and ends her favors when the flow of diamonds ends. In lusty hearty fashion, the story swings along, ultimately bringing her in contact with the head of a neighboring mission, who turns out to be as susceptible to her charms as any of the natives of the district. A startling, dramatic climax follows.

Miss West sings three songs in the lusty Bowery manner during the run of the film.

HOPE.

Where wisdom fails
And stout heart quails,
Hope points the way—
The strong are they
Who watch and pray!
—Fletcher Davis in Holland's Magazine.

Arthur Brisbane, the world's highest paid newspaper writer, says: "What men can imagine, they can do." What about the fellow who "imagines the impossible"? Can you imagine that?

Will J. Pierpont Morgan and Al Capone organize an Income-tax-evaders Club when they are both accorded the same just treatment for the same offense "against the peace and dignity of the state"?

On August 26th the voters of Texas will be called upon at the ballot box to pass upon some of the most vital questions ever affecting the welfare of a sovereign people. They should begin now to prepare themselves to cast an intelligent ballot.

Why this country should waste time in exchanging nice diplomatic promises with a people who have already repudiated their just debts is more than a commonsense American can understand. Europe should be given to understand that before her word will be accepted in any thing she must first discharge her just debts and come with clean hands and kept pledges before she can sit down at the council table with us.

Farmers will do well to remember that, regardless of all that is said and done, the last line of defense against famine and want is their harvest field. Let the harvests of the world fail and humanity starves. Therefore, regardless of what the price may be or what the palaver about controlling production in order to control the price, every field should be made to produce its utmost and none should be allowed to go to waste. Humanity must be fed whether it has the price to buy or not.

William Randolph Hearst, in a signed editorial in his chain of papers, recently tipped off the buck-passing congressmen with the statement that "The American people love Roosevelt as the president and not as a Dictator." President Roosevelt should burn that truth into his mind and conscience so that it may be "a cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night" to guide him through the next four years. And it should warn him against the friendship of those congressmen who would come bearing gifts of constitutional duties for him to assume which they should perform themselves.

Cotton is the South's almost only source of cash income for it is almost our only export. Figures compiled from the records as of February over the past ten years show a steady decline in the average price of cotton from 31.73c in 1924 to 5.85c in February 1933. In other words, it takes nearly six pounds of cotton to bring in the same cash returns to the cotton farmer that one pound brought in 1924. In view of the problem the farmer has of balancing his budget on a nearly 600% decline in income, other budget balancers should take a tumble to the wise crack of a Texas legislator and "budget the balance"—if there is any left to be found—and cease worrying.

THE FRIENDS OF SILVER.

It is interesting to observe the diverse groups that are seeking means to restore silver as a monetary metal.

The farmer is one. He is joined by a multitude of leading industrialists representing all forms of endeavor. Economists of all faiths enlist in the ranks. Both our major parties have gone on record favoring silver rehabilitation. So has the principal business men's organization of the country.

We are beginning to recognize that the problem of silver looms large among the problems of depression. Cheap silver has destroyed world trade, almost destroyed a major industry, thrown the world's monetary systems in confusion. Finding the solution is a challenge to the intelligence not only of America but the world.—Industrial News Review.

The best way to silence the carping critics is to heed the criticism of those friends who have something constructive to offer. The wise man is he who knows where to draw the line between the two, to heed the one and refuse to be annoyed by the other. Blessed is the wise man for his ways are straight!

BE ON GUARD.

There is a type of political sharp practice that cannot be too heartily condemned.

The politicians who use it take advantage of the stress and uncertainty of the moment to attack tested institutions and principles. They claim that, because of exceptional business collapses, the economic system has broken down. They seize on such exceptions as indicative of a situation obtaining in an entire industry. And their solution is more political control, more bureaus, more commission dictatorship, more taxes and more limitation of private initiative and enterprise.

We must not let hysteria and fear lead us into actions which will have a baneful effect far into the future, long after this depression has been forgotten. Watch the politicians carefully—and analyze their motives.—Industrial News Review.

They labor in vain who seek to raise the price of the farmer's produce by controlling his production within the bounds of demand at profitable prices and yet leave the price-making produce gamblers go free to ply their nefarious trade of price manipulation.

PRODUCTIVE WORK IS THE TEST.

Any relief program that is sound must be based upon PRODUCTIVE work. We can, for example, build unnecessary postoffices, federal buildings and statehouses until the taxpayers are blue in the face. A certain amount of distress will be eliminated, a certain amount of temporary employment provided, and that is all. Unless the money spent gives us something actually needed it has been wasted.

Individuals and industries must eventually provide the PRODUCTIVE work. This does not mean we should refuse worthy charities—give to them by all means. Charity in itself is a productive venture of a sort. But it is better if the same amount of money can provide normal jobs, add to the nation's purchasing power, and give the spender himself something he needs and can use.

Property improvement is PRODUCTIVE work. Prices for materials and supplies of all kinds are at unprecedented low levels. Mills, factories and quarries are inactive, waiting for orders. There are millions of people in this country who can afford to spend ten or a hundred or a thousand dollars to repair a furnace, renew or replace a roof, buy and install some labor-saving appliance, overhaul an automobile, paint a home or do a multitude of similar tasks. The property-owner who does this will get his improvements at much less than their real value—and he will be putting dollars into PRODUCTIVE relief work.

Remember that while honest charity is good, jobs are better and cheaper.—Industrial News.

The revelations being disclosed by the Senate investigation at Washington into the activities of J. P. Morgan and his associates only prove what all thoughtful men knew from a process of reasonable deduction already about big business' control of our government. Unfortunately, rotten as is the Republican leadership, Democracy—a la Senator Glass and John W. Davis of 1924 presidential race fame—is tarred with the same stick. Will Roosevelt have the nerve to strike the slimy coils of the big business octopus from the government and from his party?

Ambition to be a world factor wrecked the physical and mental faculties of one Democratic President, ruined the party's chances for success for two decades and was indirectly, therefore, responsible for the rascality of the Harding administration and the imbecility of the Hoover regime, not to mention this country's foolish and needless participation in the world war and all the miseries that have followed in its train. Wise men are guided by the light of experience, not the lure of over-weening ambition or the itch to experiment and finker.

The farmer who produces and preserves all the food and feed he possibly can, regardless of the low price in prospect for it, will be a benefactor to humanity whether ever so proclaimed or not. Food is the first natural want of men; it is what sustains his strength to labor and fight; when it is gone life itself soon departs. Famine and want stalk on the heels of depression and food alone can help us win the race against ruin, despite all that muddling politicians may or may not do.

If you like farming tell your neighbor about it and induce him to subscribe for it. You will do both of us a favor.

Ann Dreaming Dewdrop Is The Millionth Registered Jersey Cow

Mary Louise, David and Eugene Henson, children of Mr. and Mrs. M. Y. Henson, Fayetteville, Ark., with the millionth Jersey cow registered in the United States. This young cow, Ann Dreaming Dewdrop 1,000,000, is a member of the Henson Jersey herd.

Ann Dreaming Dewdrop, a young Arkansas Jersey cow unknown to the dairy world a few days ago, is now officially named, "Ann Dreaming Dewdrop 1,000,000", signifying that she has the unique distinction of being the millionth purebred Jersey cow consecutively registered and numbered in this country by The American Jersey Cattle Club, national organization of Jersey cattle breeders.

Lily 1, first Jersey cow registered in the United States, was born on the Island of Jersey and made the hazardous voyage across the Atlantic to this country in a sailing vessel, receiving her official designation as registered cow number one in 1868.

Ann Dreaming Dewdrop 1,000,000 starts her career in peaceful surroundings at the farm of her breeder M. Y. Henson, Fayetteville, Ark. Scientific formulas for the feeding and proper care of dairy cattle govern her days now, but when she grows up there can be no dawdling about her job, for the standard of economical milk production has climbed to high levels since the time of Lily 1. Modern dairies are managed efficiently and every cow must earn a profit for her owner.

The Henson herd has set a good example for the millionth cow to follow. It leads all officially tested Jersey herds in Arkansas with an average yield of 379.90 pounds of butterfat, 7,652 pounds, or almost four tons of milk, per cow, for a year's test made in 1931 through the Herd Improvement Registry of The American Jersey Cattle Club.

Mr. Henson and his family believe in winning first rank places with their farm and dairy projects. Mrs. Henson took first prize for the best landscaped yard in 1932, and Mr. Henson first prize in 1931 for the best pasture planting program, in Washington County, Arkansas, contests. Both David and Eugene Henson, their sons, have won premiums at state and county fairs with acre-sets which they exhibited. The successful Henson dairy business was started in 1921 and furnishes an important part of the farm income. Modern methods are used not only in the dairy but in the operation of the entire farm, which has been in the possession of the Henson family for more than half a century.

SUPPLICATION.

By Mrs. Hanna Lillian Flora.

Your voice to me comes through the silent night
And moonbeams cast their beauty
everywhere,
The grass-blades dipped in dew,
are sparkling rare,
White clouds are drifting in the breezes light.
I heave a sigh—my heart with love gripped tight
Neath Luna's silver silence
bright and fair;
Now pierced by a bird note, so
free from care;
The mocking bird, who carols
his delight.

His little mate is in a tree quite near,
Ah now! my hungry heart knows solitude
For I have only memories left
to me
This night. It seems your voice
is calling, dear
Of happy trysting hours, o'er
which I brood—
Your eyes alight with tenderness, I see.

HUAJILLA LODGE IN JUNE.
(Camp Rio Feliz).

By Rose Akin.

Huajilla Lodge gleams like a lamp
Within the circle of the Camp,
Upon the Rio Frio's brow
And sheds bright beams upon me now.

Closer to Heaven I am drawn
From late at eve to early dawn
By all her mountain scenery
Whose purple gauze fills twilight's sea.

On green hill-slopes that seem to rise
From out the circle of the skies,
A curtain, coral-pink, clings low
With tints of daytime's afterglow.

A castle in a gold-edged cloud
Keeps watch, while evening's silver shroud
Falls softly from the rising moon
Upon Huajilla Lodge each June.

MORNING.

By A. S. Draper.

One morning, God's artist
Spilt his paint-pot
Upon the eastern hills,
And wiped his brush
Upon the stars.

The bright sky was spattered
All over with crimson;
The hills were crowned
With molten gold,
Each wore a robe
Of dark purple,
And all the grass
With dew was gemmed.

WEDDING BELLS.

By Jeanette Nourland.

We were
All surprised. George
Had always liked them blond, Pretty and petite. Judith was Neither.

INVOCATION.

"The earth is the Lord's, and all that therein is;
The compass of the world, and they that dwell therein."

MAN.

My hand is on the plow; deep in my soul
There lies the hope, the destiny of men.
My hands know strength, the strength of iron beasts
Yet they have chiseled gods to song and science;
My eyes see rows that melt into a mist
Of rising glory and I follow on Despairing not—yet never asking why;
The throb within my breast is but a march,
A dirge to time my steps across the years.

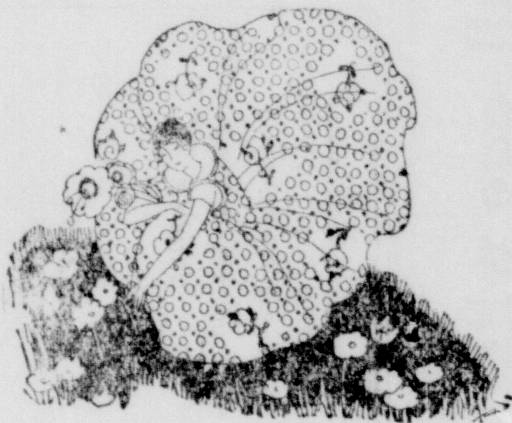

Magnificent is Man! and born a slave
To push steel teeth across the silent earth;
Dust claims my breath; I moisten clay with my sweat;
It slowly yields, this earth invincible—
Yet all the heavens echo with my prayer
Oh God of Earth! Oh God of Dust! Will you
Give back tomorrow, life you take today?

GOD.

The fields are yellow ashes in the tomb
And lie for silent miles in awful death;
The beasts know well the meaning of this quiet
And rest their thirsty burdens on the thing
They fear; while man in anger and despair
Calls out to earth, the only god he knows—
His words of hate are curses of the flesh,
His cries are echoes of a wailing heart—
And rising like an ancient altar chant
Man's curse and prayer will come at last to me!

Out of the dust I gathered from the earth
I did create the mystery of his heart;
And from the beauty of the world's first dawn
I made the soul invisible in man;
Then surely he must be a part of earth,
The dust of fields, dust of my own hand—
Could I forsake the one who loves me then—My earth?

—LOIS VIRGINIA DAVIDGE.

IN MY GARDEN.

One bright morning
In the month of May,
I wandered in my garden
To hear what my flowers had to say.

The saucy bachelorbutton
Spied the modest bluebonnet
And in his floral courtship
Sang a real love sonnet.

The violet and verbena
Heard them from afar.
And whispered to each other,
"We brighten the corners where we are."

The stately sunflower,
Clad in robes so gay,
Paid his humble duty
To the King of Day.

The graceful queenswreath,
With its sprays of pink,
Embraced each swaying twig
Without stopping to think.

The abelia greeted me
With its modest eye
And shed its fragrance
As I passed by.

The bold hollyhock,
So tall and straight,

Stood like a soldier
At the garden gate.

The plumbago so modest,
With eyes of azure blue,
Smiled as I beheld it,
Like a friend so true.

The dahlia so graceful,
With modest pride,
Beheld the flowerets
Smiling by her side.

The rose looked out
On the beautiful scene
Saying, "Remember, my subjects,
I am your queen."

Just then a gentle shower,
Descending from above,
Washed their dusty faces
And filled each heart with love.

The humming bird in passing,
On wing so gay and fleet,
Kissed each flowery petal
In search of nectar sweet.

Then in fancy I seemed
To hear with one loud acclamation
The whole flowery kingdom
Praising God for their creation!

—MRS. G. W. MONKHOUSE.

MY HURRYING MUSE.

By Elizabeth Giles Winn.

Two cooing doves in my magnolia tree
Seemed deeply in love and happy and free;
And then a Mocking Bird soared
in the air
With lyrical rapture so sweet and rare;
A pigeon flew from the branches
above
To pick crumbs that were strewn
by human love;
Picking the food with her motherly skill
For the waiting and hungry
fledglings' bill:
With lyrical joy both softly,
and sharp,
Each singing bird tuned his
twittering harp,
And sang till the song seemed
only a part
Of my grateful, happy, tremulous heart.
And I, a poet, could never refuse
To share my eager joy with my
good Muse:
And so in wonder I hurried along Telling my story composing this song.

JUNE.

By Jessica Morehead Young.

Bewitching June, soft eyed and
sweet,
With you I'd go today,
Where mountain streamlets
laugh and sing.
And wander far away.

You came a flower laden girl,
With butterflies a-wing,
And elder-blossoms drifting down
Like snow-flakes in the spring.

Like any queen, rose-crowned
are you!
Dew-drops their splendor
lend,
As gowned in crimson, gold and green
The soft skies o'er you bend.

ON BEING REMEMBERED.

By Margaret Lockhart.

It is sweet to be remembered
By the boys of long ago;
Though my form is bent and
aged,
My hair as white as snow,
With snow upon my head
There is springtime in my heart
When I think of those dear boys
Who in memory hold a part.
I've often wondered where you've been,
Am glad to know you are real
men,
And may your life be filled with
joy,
I'm proud of you, my one time
boy!

Mrs. Lockhart is the last known living aunt of this editor and though now past her four score years, springtime still truly blooms in her heart.
Bereaved of her only son in his early life, she opened her heart and home
to numerous other boys who needed
mothering and so shed the love she could not bestow upon her own into the lives of many another mother's son. It was in response to Mother's Day remembrances from some of her boys that the above beautiful lines were composed. What devious ways
God finds for us to do His ministry!

—The Editor.

SPIVEY AND HUNTER SHIP SEVEN CARS ROASTINGEARS.

Up to Tuesday noon, Spivey and Hunter have shipped seven cars of green corn; and shut down for want of orders. They paid 25c the crate for what they have shipped. It seems that continued unemployment and lack of money makes the demand for corn. There is plenty corn, Mr. Spivey says, and the men are held in readiness to resume shipments as soon as markets are found. They are not shipping open as in former years.

Later, Wednesday morning finds them going again in full force, with new orders received.

A swing of several miles into the farm section this week showed corn that looked to be ruined before the rain making apparently pretty good cars. Several cars of roastingears have been shipped, mostly from the Yancey neighborhood, where they had early corn and got more showers.

Mayor M. A. Keller had as a guest this week the president of one of San Antonio's largest banks, whose name it is not necessary to give. They visited the creamery, the cannery, etc., making notes of the development here. The gentleman was very much impressed, Mr. Keller says, with the work of the creamery and the cannery, taking with him samples of cheese, etc., which he will display for

Rev. A. M. Foster, pastor local Methodist church, attended the Diamond Jubilee of the New Fountain Methodist church, Saturday, where he was on the program. Rev. E. W. Deckert is the pastor now of this old church organized seventy-five years ago. Many ex-pastors attended and spoke at this home-coming; Rev. Foster estimated the crowd as more than 500 Saturday. Meals for the most part were served on the grounds during the two days meet, Rev. Foster said.

COUNTRY TALK.

I suppose the reason it's harder to make a country talk than one on politics for instance, is that there is so little country sense in print, and so much in politics; and for the further reason that, generally speaking, the politicians are long on politics and short on country sense; and same way with most of the newspaper gang. I have been trying for the longest to get some country sense into politics, and some politics into agriculture; I mean beside what is put up to the farmers by "Who has the best show to win", regardless of what he stands for, or what he is liable to do when he wins.

Well, you see what luck too few like me, have had and the outre results of our failure. If anybody stalls at my French, as nearly as I can translate "ootray" into Texas lingo is a "mell of a hess". But maybe this is a good place to change the subject lest I get funny. It is not funny, the way too much partizan politics and too little regard for our basic industry has culminated. Indeed, the culmination is tragical.

Locally, as to section covered, they seem to have made a good start for a market organization in the Lower Valley. I hope they are learning that on-the-ground buyers are poor dependence for a market; that is, for regular business. It's all right to sell to them, as long as they bid up to suit the growers but who should, to the extent possible, make themselves independent of a bunch that bids up fresh at first and as long as the margin is big in their favor, then quit the game as buyers and go to soliciting consignments. I had some personal experience with them some years ago when, for three years, I visited the farm often enough to direct the work of a foreman. Since then I have rented the farm and have never got enough out of cotton to pay my taxes. If anybody would like a line on my experience, let FARMING or yours truly know.

Speaking of taxes, when a tax-eating government, high up or low down is looking after assessments and collections, it's easier to get at the farmers than anybody. They have not, like income tax dodgers, all sorts of obstructions from Wall Street to Main Street, to hide behind, and they have no such agents as old Mellon to look after their interests, and have not gotten far enough away from the primitive to look out for their own "according to law". The idea among their oppressors is that anything is good enough for the farmer, and when they do not say it outright they act it. For instance, the present Commissioner of our State Department of Agriculture, in a recent ad-

Dr. Miles' NERVINE

"Did the work" says Miss Glivar

WHY DON'T YOU TRY IT?

After more than three months of suffering from a nervous ailment, Miss Glivar used Dr. Miles' Nervine which gave her such splendid results that she wrote us an enthusiastic letter.

If you suffer from "Nerves," if you lie awake nights, start at sudden noises, tire easily, are cranky, blue and fidgety, your nerves are probably out of order.

Quiet and relax them with the same medicine that "did the work" for this Colorado girl.

Whether your "Nerves" have troubled you for hours or for years, you'll find this time-tested remedy effective.

dress in a Central Texas town told the farmers to grow corn and cotton for a living, that they couldn't hope to make any money, or words to that effect. What a come-down from Fred Davis and George B. Terrell, who each held the post three terms. And judging by what they do about it, the farmers appear to think everybody but them can hope to make money. And no matter what the politicians do to them, does not seem to hurt the politicians. Calls to mind the story of the officers who started to put a lunatic in the asylum. He resisted violently and as a number of inmates were viewing the fuss, a sane bystander asked the officers if there was not danger of attack by the other lunatics. He said: "Nope, they're not organized."

For ten years there has been but scant breeding of work stock, while that existing has been aging and wearing out, with the result that there is a decided shortage with prices steadily advancing. In East Texas there has been a late, heavy importation of young range stock, mainly from the hill country of West Texas, or the shortage would, by now, be a most serious matter. I thought I saw this trouble coming six years ago, and in print, gave warning. But the first hint I ever had that anybody else bothered about it was some two years ago, when an East Texas county paper spoke of the dearth of work stock, and suggested that it would be good business to buy up young mares and raise mules. But it had not occurred to the editor that in the meantime, young mares were about as scarce as young mules. I wonder if the shortage is as apparent in other states.

While the seasons, as to temperature, rainfall, etc., have always seemed to come in cycles—a few wet ones for instance, followed by a few dry ones—the last few years, all records appear to have been exceeded in the matter of extremes of heat, cold and rainfall. A curious phase of the anomaly has been that it seems to be dryer in East Texas and wetter in the Panhandle; in fact, in the West all over. Don't mistake me to mean on the Pro-Anti question. But no joke, I have seen the jack-rabbits go to bed hungry out West where they are doing dry farming today.

P. S. Speaking of the liquor question, the change of seasons—wet or dry—seems to have had no perceptible effect on the thirst of either East Texas or the Panhandle. In "E-Text," "three two" beer, the sort of wetness they buy from the bootleggers, as to which they do not anticipate a long dry spell, while on the plains, they probably have no more use for water as a beverage than they ever had.

TAKE TIME FOR BEAUTY.

Take time from labor to look up and see
The jade-on-silver of the willow tree;
The amethystine glow of grapes a-swing,
A blue-bird, standard-bearer to the Spring;
Sleep on a hill, sails in the wind, behold
A meadow panoplied in cowslip's gold.

Take time to hear the brooklet's babbling tune,
The cricket's orchestration to the moon;
Take time to taste the night wind's nectar sweet,
To feel Earth's steady pulse beneath your feet;
To smell the tang of wood smoke, and to know
God's presence in the silence of the snow.

Take time for beauty, he who does is free,
No matter what the galling fetters be
That bind him to the irksome task at hand.
Keep close to beauty, feel and understand
Each fickle whimsey, each capricious roll;
To live with beauty is to rest the soul.

—CLAUD GIBSON CATE in Kaleidograph. Farming's favorite from the April issue.

Feeding sheep for first time, A. Benson of Melvin in McCulloch county has cleared $650 from 450 lambs fed by Extension Service methods in a demonstration with James D. Prewitt, county agent. The lambs were bought last October at $2 per head, treated for stomach and tape worms, and turned into feed fields to clean up waste grain. At Christmas they were put in the feed lot and fed a daily ration for 60 days averaging about 1 1/4 pounds ground heads, 1-3 pound cottonseed meal and 1-4 ounce limestone flour. Hay was kept in racks at all times. When sold they weighed an average of 84 pounds each.

Accurate reports from 122 of the 254 counties of Texas compiled by the extension service of A. and M. College reveal that home-grown food canned or otherwise preserved amounted in value to $3,629,569. A total of 16,309,487 quarts was preserved in those 122 counties, in which the sale of 45 million tin cans and glass jars for that purpose was reported by Merchants, and in addition 3,490,684 pounds of fruits and vegetables were dried or preserved in brine. Approximately 85 per cent of the canned food was of fruit and vegetables and 15 per cent meats.

Business Beans

THE man with a business bean knows that he has to store up enough energy to last him through a business day. These days are busy now, so he buys beans. In fact, the male of the species has been buying beans in one form or another ever since those youthful days when he went about with his pockets bulging with beans for ammunition to shoot in that trusty weapon once known as a "slingshot" and now dubbed a "beanie."

Valuable Energy

That excess energy of which he was once so prodigal—back in the days of the beanie—is coveted by the man of today in order to accomplish the day's work. And a big bowl of oven-cooked beans, flavored with molasses, seasoned with sugar, browned and sizzling with hot pork, goes a long way toward affording the needed energy.

The woman who prepares the luncheon dish that "hits the spot" for men, those chilly days, elects to serve beans. Here is a "different" bean dish for the business man's lunch, or for the boy whose business is going to school:

Baked Beans Parmesan: Sauté one small sliced onion and one diced canned pimiento in two tablespoons of butter until golden brown. Add the contents of one No. 2 can of oven baked beans, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and three tablespoons of grated Parmesan cheese, and heat thoroughly. Serve very hot, garnished with sweet gherkins. This serves four hungry persons.

ST. ANTHONY'S COMMUNITY CLUB.

The St. Anthony's Community Club held its regular meeting at the Parish Hall Friday afternoon, June 9, 1933.

"America" was sung by the club
members, followed by a song Geneva
Kiebert accompanied by her sister,
Mamie Dell, on the piano.

The meeting was called to order
by the president, Mrs. Henry Biry.

Mrs. Louis Carle, Jr. led the prayer.
The roll was called, and the minutes
of the previous meeting were read
and approved. Mrs. Louis Carle, Jr. reported on the tuition fund. A motion was made by Mrs. Ed. Finger and a committee was appointed by the president to draw up a set of rules
for the club to follow at their regular card parties. A number of donations for the Sister's living quarters were pledged by members present.

Hostesses for the June benefit are as follows: Mesdames Frank Kimmer-ly, Richard Carle, Frank Finger,
Fred Huser, and Miss Berntha Sauter.

It was decided to have the play,
"Closed Lips," which the club is sponsoring for the benefit of the school, on Sunday night, June 18, at the Parish Hall.

PIRATES 6; ALL-STARS 3.

In a game filled with spectacular plays, long hitting and a fifteen minute delay caused by rain the Pirates defeated the strong Highway 90 All-Stars on the local diamond Sunday.

Charles Langfeld was on the ground for D'Hanis and kept six hits
well scattered, only in the third inning three hits and a walk resulted in three runs for the All-Stars. The Pirates started scoring early, but did not cinch the game until the seventh,
when Allen Koch, and Smut Finger singled and Joe Finger brought both home with a long curve over left field for three bases and from where he scored on a wild relay from the outfield. Snyder was found for eleven hits but managed to keep them fairly well scattered. Francis Koch starred in center field with two great catches, one which seemed to be good for at least three bases. The Pirates played errorless ball. This was the first game this season in which all regulars appeared and barring accidents or illness will probably be the lineup in future games. Sunday the Pirates travel to LaCoste for a game with the Boosters of that town.

Batteries: All-Stars, Snyder and King; D'Hanis, Langfeld and Finger.

candy away from a baby!

"Stronger and more persistent are the larger towns pulling for the smaller towns' trade. Surely it is to the best interest of the small town merchants to advertise their goods in the newspapers so the people may know what they have." Thus philoso-phizes the Dawson Herald, and Dawson business men seem to subscribe to the same doctrine. Dawson is a little railroad siding in Navarro County, between Corsicana and Waco, and much smaller than Hondo.
The same issue of the Herald
carries 46 1-2 inches of local merchan-
tile advertising, 34 inches garage advertising, an 8 inch display for the picture show, and a blacksmith comes in with 10 inches while the ice house offers seven pounds of ice for a nickle in a ten inch space. Evidently Dawson business men are giving the "larger towns" a hard pull for any Dawson trade they get. Is there danger of a comparison of the advertising lineage in your local paper
giving any body a false impression
about the ease of pulling trade from your town to the larger towns?

Editors W. R. Hardy of the Winter

Never to worry about the irrevocable.

To forget to remember your grudges.

To profit by the other fellow's experience if you can.

Never to pretend to wisdom you do not possess.

To know the weakness as well as the strength of your cause.

To first count the cost before accepting something offered free.

To so live you can look every man
in the eye without wincing.

To stick to the faith that sticks to
you when all else fails.

Ray Powell, a 14 year old 4-H club
member of the Rio Hondo Club, Cameron county, writes the following story about his hog demonstration:
"I started with a good brood sow
when I joined the boy's 4-H club and raised 15 pigs. About three months ago I killed this sow and took one of her pigs for my brood sow. We killed
one of her pigs and sold two of them at six weeks old for $5. I canned four of the hogs for home use and they weighed 1213 pounds. I now have on hand, at the close of the demonstration, nine pigs."

Bobbe Arnst, Pretty Stage Star

Proves Skill as Kitchen Artist

Seasoning Is the Keynote Of Her Culinary Masterpieces.

LITTLE BOBBE ARNST, of the brown ringlets and bubbling personality, who has been featured in "Whoopie," and other Ziegfeld
shows, is one of the prettiest bits
of femininity who ever saw footlights. In fact, she has so much energy to spare between performances that she has to let off steam in some sort of activity. Like many wise persons, she chose a hobby far removed from her occupation, or rather, her art—though to say that Miss Arnst chose her hobby is stretching a point. For her avocation is cookery, at which she is a master and for which she has such instinctive talent that her performances in the kitchen are as natural to her as swimming to a fish.

In her file of recipes—she keeps
a very complete one—is a recipe for stew. Now most people like their stew Irish. Not Bobbe. Her favorite is Spanish by name, and with it she is willing to challenge
all comers and stew fanciers. One of the secrets of her success with this particular recipe, she says, is the seasoning. She uses sugar, along with the salt and pepper, to bring out the flavors and add piquancy to the dish, a seasoning
secret long known to Continental chefs and recently brought into vogue in American cookery. Here is the formula:

Spanish Stew

Cut one pound of neck of lamb
in small pieces, roll in flour and brown in a tablespoonful of drippings. Add 1 chopped onion, 3

Bobbe Arnst, in her kitchenette, proves that she knows her kitchen
lore by preparing her own version of Spanish stew.

tomatoes chopped, 3 green peppers
chopped and 2 tablespoonfuls of sugar. Sauté all together for 10 minutes, turning often with spatula.
Then add 4 cupfuls of hot water,
1 1/2 teaspoonfuls of salt, 1/4 teaspoonful of pepper and simmer one hour. Add 1 cupful of green peas, 1 cupful of corn cut from the cob
and 1/4 cupful of rice, with additional water, as necessary. Continue to simmer until the rice is well done, adding water if the stew becomes too dry.

$1 Dinner for 4

"Let's have another cup of coffee
And let's have another piece of pie!"

NOT at all a bad idea Irving Berlin has, and his song
sees good times just around the corner. If our whole dinner costs only one dollar and serves four persons—we'll all have another cup of coffee and another maple meringue custard.

Rich Cream of Tomato Soup:
Turn the contents of one can of tomato soup into a saucepan,
bring to boiling and add a pinch
of soda. Scald together the contents of one 5-ounce can of pastry (tall cream) and three-fourths cup milk. Pour the hot soup slowly into the hot cream

and milk and serve. A slice of stale bread may be cut in small cubes and browned in the oven
for croutons if desired.

Maple Meringue Custards:
Scald the contents of one 6-ounce can of evaporated milk and two-thirds cup maple syrup in a double boiler. Smooth together two tablespoonfuls cornstarch and two tablespoonfuls cold water and
cook until thick and smooth,

Not drunk is he
Who from the floor
Can raise himself,
And drink some more.

But drunk is he,
Who prostrate lies,
And cannot drink
And cannot rise.

Also drunk is he,
Who from the floor looks up,
And says he is no hog,
He knows when he has enough.

Loan Commissioner, Houston, Texas
reports that although they have been somewhat hampered by a large volume of correspondence addressed
to his office, the Texas division is now organized and in position to handle
incoming business with dispatch. Mr.
H. E. Haas has been requested to act as his local correspondent for Medina county and all eligible farmers entitled to assistance through this division may call on him, and he will

This season the Haupt berry is killed to the ground. However, the Early Wonder, the Aulo and the Mercereau berries promise a wonderful crop. The Early Wonder berry is proving good all over America. The Young berry is also very promising.
It is a cross between a Dewberry and the Loganberry. It has the flavor of a raspberry and the vine of a Dewberry. And that makes me think I am wondering if the Austin dewberry will never go out of fashion. It was a popular berry thirty-five years ago and it is still popular. It bears very abundantly of the largest berries and never gets caught by cold.
